Kinston High Boy Gets Thor Award In Farm Mechanics

Charles Teel has been presented with a certificate of Merit in Farm Mechanics, awarded by the Thor Research Center for Better Farm Living of Marengo, Ill., for showing the greatest farm mechanics ability among the graduating seniors of Kinston high school.

Neil C. Hurley, Jr., founder of the Thor Research Center, a non-profit farm research organization located in northern Illinois, established the Farm Mechanics Award to honor the member of each senior high school class deemed most outstanding in his proficiency to apply farm mechanics to the effective use of farm shop equipment and tools, in the maintenance of farm machinery and in building projects to provide improved farm living and operating efficiency. The selection is made by his vocational agriculture teacher.

Recognition of outstanding high school vo-ag is part of the Thor Research Center's programs for honoring leading vo-ag teachers, outstanding agriculturalists, and others who have contributed to farm progress.

The Center also works closely with high schools, colleges, 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America groups in seminars and is the site of Model Farm Shop which features more than 2,500 tools.

The Thor Research Center devotes much time to the study of new methods in the mechanization and modernization of the farm. Hurley, president of Thor Power Tool Co., founded the non-profit Research Center in 1956.

Girl Scout Leaders School Scheduled

There will be a Girl Scout training course for leaders in Geneva August 6, 10, 12, 15, and 17. The course, to be conducted by professional Girl Scout workers, Mrs. A. C. Watson and Betty Branch, will be taught at the Geneva community center from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m.

A service offered by the South Central South Alabama Council of the Girl Scouts of America, the course is highly recommended to all women who work with Girl Scout troops. There will be no charge for the five-day training program.

All interested persons are urged to contact Mrs. John C. Miller in Geneva.

Kinston Soldier Now At Fort Sill, Okla.

Army Pvt. Alvin L. Wood, 29, son of Mrs. Bettie Wood, Route 1, Kinston, is receiving eight weeks of advanced individual training at the Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla. The training is scheduled to end July 27.

Wood is being trained to service and maintain the 105 millimeter howitzer, a light-field weapon. He entered the Army last March and completed basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C.

Wood is a 1959 graduate of Kinston high school.

CHICKEN PROBLEMS

AUBURN — Chickens have social problems, too. Scientists have found that chickens in flocks establish a peck order—a "dogpatch-style" social order. And Extension Poultryman J. R. Hubbard, Jr., says the more birds a chicken can "lick," the higher she goes in the social order. He adds that birds in the top half of the social order lay more eggs than those in the bottom half.

Alabama Hunting, Trapping and Fishing Limits and Seasons Set By State Board

Montgomery — Alabama's seasons for hunting, trapping, fishing and bag and creel limits have been set for the 1960-61 season. It was announced today by Julian M. Gowan, Chairman of the State's Advisory Board of Conservation.

Major changes approved by today's annual board meet listed unlimited permits for hunters in the National Forest Management areas.

Board members agreed on listing permit requirements that before necessitated turning away numerous hunting permit requests because of the regulation limiting the number of hunters.

Referring to the no-permit requirements, it was the board's opinion that lifting the restriction would "allow everyone to participate in the hunt if they so desire," and since permits are unlimited and several areas will open on the same date there will be no appreciable increase in the number of hunters participating in National Forest hunts.

Another major change confined legal deer to bucks with antlers visible above the natural hair-line. Last year's regulations required that a four-inch antler be visible. Board members agreed that this requirement would prevent the killing of the so-called (button) deer, and would avoid determination of a legal and illegal deer.

It was decided to remove the Cottontail Quail from the game bird list. Conservationists said since there was no evidence that this bird still existed in Alabama (except in captivity), continued protection was not necessary.

Hunting seasons for 1960-61 are as follows:

Deer
Bucks with antlers visible above natural hair-line only may be taken one day or three a season from Nov. 10 to Jan. 1. Doe hunting and still hunting will be legal on the same dates only in the following counties: Bibb, Butler, Choctaw, Clarke, Conecuh, Jefferson, Covington, Escambia, Greene, Hale, Marengo, Mobile, Monroe, Perry, Pickens, Russell, Shelby, Sumter, Tuscaloosa, Washington, Walker, Wilcox, and Baldwin county except south and west of U. S. highway 90, and Fort Rucker reservation.

Dog and stalk hunting will open from Nov. 10 thru Nov. 19 only in Autauga, Barbour, Coosa, Chilton, DeKalb, and Dallas county north of U. S. highway 80. Hunting in Colbert county and Franklin county north of Alabama highway 24 will be Nov. 10-11; Nov. 24-25; and Dec. 2-3.

Stalk hunting only (no dogs allowed), using shotguns with slugs or rifles 240 or larger will be legal from Nov. 10 to Jan. 1 only in Randolph and Clay county east of Ala. highway 9, and from Nov. 19 to Nov. 23 in Calhoun county south of the Piedmont-Berden Springs road and east of the Piedmont - White Plains-Darmannville road to the intersection of U. S. highway 78, and Cleburne county only.

Turkey
Gobblers only may be taken one day or five during the entire 1960-61 seasons in the counties of Clay, Coosa, Jefferson, Randolph, Shelby, Talladega, Tuscaloosa, and Walker during the fall season No. 10-Jan. 1, and the spring season March 25-April 20.

Turkey in Bibb, Butler, Chilton, Choctaw, Clarke, Conecuh, Covington, Escambia, Houston, Marengo, Mobile, Washington, Wilcox, and in Baldwin county except south and west of U. S. highway 99 during the fall season Nov. 10 - Jan. 1, and the spring season March 20-April 15. Barbour and Russell counties only will open for turkey hunting during the fall season Dec. 20 - Jan. 1, and the spring season March 20-April 15.

The spring season only will open to turkey from March 20-April 15 in Bullock, Dallas, Perry, Sumter, and Fort Rucker Reservation. In Cleburne, Colbert, Lawrence, Winston and Franklin county north of Alabama highway 24, spring hunting only will be allowed from April 1 - April 20. A spring hunt from April 1-April 15 only will open in Autauga, Crenshaw, Dale, Elmore, G. N. Greer, Greene, Henry, and in Lowndes county south and east of Alabama highway 21.

Bob - White Quail
Hunting for bob-white quail will open from Nov. 20 - Feb. 20 with a limit of 10 a day or 10 in possession.

Rabbit
Rabbit may be hunted with a gun from Oct. 15 - Feb. 20 with a limit set at six a day.

Squirrel
The squirrel season will extend from Oct. 15 through Jan. 1 north of highway 80 and from Nov. 1 through Jan. 15 south of highway 80 with a big limit of six a day or in possession.

Opossum and Raccoon
Opossum and raccoon may be hunted as game with no bag limit from Oct. 15 - Feb. 20. The board approved the hunting of raccoon with dogs year-round without guns.

Bear and Alligator
No open season on bear and alligator.

Waterfowl
The waterfowl season, including rail and gallinule, is to be selected forward from the latest closing date allowed by Federal regulations. Snipe and woodcock hunting will be opened as near to last year's season as possible.

Dove
Two equal seasons (afternoon hunting only) will open for dove with the first season beginning Oct. 1-31, and the second season from Dec. 1 - Jan. 5.

Young Coaches Are In Charge For North - South Tilt

Montgomery — It'll be a relatively young coaching lineup in charge of things August 11 at the University of Alabama when the 19th annual North-South High School All-Star football game is played at Denny Stadium.

But where the 10 grid coaches selected for the prep class may be lacking in overall experience, they've already snatched the sweet smell of success. Directing the North squad will be Head Coach Earl Webb of Arab and Assistant Gilbert Adams of Oxford. Olan Cunningham of Red Bay, Darrell Mock of Doshier and Charlie Richards of Tarrant.

South boss Jackie Davis of Tallapoosa will be aided by Ozark's Roy Davis, Tuscaloosa's Billy Henderson, Camden's Connie McKelvey and Visor's Glen Yancey.

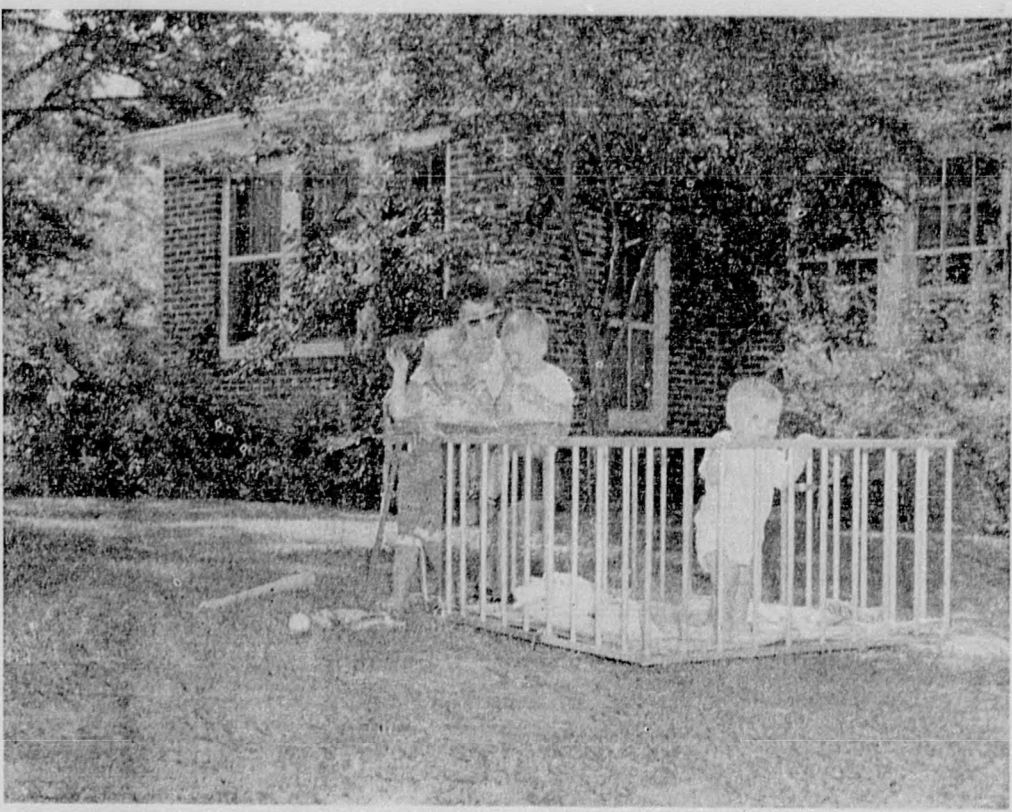

Their total of coaching years is 88, an average of nearly nine seasons per man, but so far numerous honors have come their way.

Henderson and Cunningham, for example, both have experienced undefeated football seasons. Ozark's Davis saw his 1959 team lose its first game by one point, then wind up winning the rest. Each of the 10 coaches has had several All-State proteges.

So it looks like the coaching is in good hands for this annual high spot of prep athletics in Alabama.

Beef prices will be unusually stable for the rest of this year.

A Bit Of America—

A representative of The Elba Clipper was hurrying along a street in Elba recently when he saw a scene which looked like a cover page from "The Ladies Home Journal or McCall's." "Will you just pretend that nothing is happening and let me turn my camera on your play yard for a minute?" he asked. The result is the above unposed picture of Mrs. George Collier, Jr., and children, of Collier St.

What's To Be Done About Irresponsible Licensed Killers Prowling The Highways?

Imagine that you are the young father who, not long ago, was driving down a pleasant street in one of America's pleasant cities. Your daughter is chattering happily beside you. Life is good, and promising—and then an oncoming car lurches into your lane and cracks you head-on.

In the hospital, when the agonies of reality start to penetrate the shock, your first fearful question is about your daughter. She is in a cast, they say; it took 10 stitches to try and repair her knee, but she's alive.

And you? The pain tells a lot, but they have to specify it for you: multiple face lacerations, a smashed knee, undetermined back injuries, broken ribs, broken teeth, broken shoulder, a smashing blow to one eye that has damaged your vision and muscle coordination.

Then you learn about the other driver. He was drunk when he struck you. He has only minor injuries. He's recuperating at home. He has no insurance, no money. Then you learn about his driving record, over the last ten years:

The Record
Convicted of a stop sign violation. Fined $10.
Convicted of speeding. Fined $30.
Convicted of involuntary manslaughter and drunken driving in a crash that killed a person. Served 10 months in jail. Released. Driven's license restored two days later.
Convicted of speeding. Fined $10.
Convicted of driving too fast in a two-car crash. Fined $25.
Given a warning ticket for speeding.
Convicted of speeding and improper passing. Fined $25.
Convicted of drunken driving and negligent homicide, in accident that killed a person. Served 10 months in jail. Released. Given a new 5-year license to drive.

And the next notch this killer filed on his automotive weapon is for YOU and YOUR DAUGHTER. Not quite a killing, this time, but he really brought you down on the wing!

All Gone
You add it all up in your bewildered brain. It isn't just your eye that's giving you trouble, now; your whole vision of society seems to have been smashed. The pleasant world you knew has dissolved into a jungle. The pleasant roads you traveled have dissolved into savage concrete trails where licensed killers prowled. You had always respected the law and its enforcement; now it all seems like a flimsy illusion that vanished when a criminal jumped you and your child on a city street, in broad daylight.

Anger begins to mount through the pain. Then fear arises to engulf everything—even the pain—for a while—"Will it finally be all right with me? Will I ever be able to walk again, and work again, and see again, as I could before a drunken, immoral, irresponsible, legally - licensed to drive fool crossed my path?"

It's True
Would that this were fiction, but the appalling fact is that it's true. Of course, some states are doing far better than others in licensing killers of the road. But there is room for improvement everywhere. One coast to coast look at our traffic toll tells us, shouts, that there has to be room for improvement!

What's the first step? Total revision of our attitude toward driving. We still cling to the notion that propelling a car through life's traffic is a common right that we grow into, like long pants. Everybody walks, everybody talks, everybody drives.

We must come to realize that driving is a privilege, to be licensed just as painstakingly as the privilege to practice medicine—for drivers, as well as doctors, must prove that they have sufficient skill and maturity to safeguard life and welfare.

We cannot blame our state vehicle departments for the licensed killers and potential killers who crowd our concrete trails. Neither can we blame our state legislatures. We can blame only ourselves. Because until we get up on our hind legs and overwhelmingly demand licensing, enforcement and record systems with stronger, sharper teeth in them, we will never have them.

And until we do have them, there will be many a pleasant street in many a pleasant town where life for the innocent will suddenly turn hideous, or be destroyed.

ONE TO BE DRAFTED

One person will be drafted from Coffee county in the August Selective Service call, according to state director, Walter M. Thompson, Jr. The call will include 253 from Alabama in a national call of 7,000 men, a boost of 1,000 over the number called in July.

New Brockton Boy Is At Fort Bliss, Tex.

Army Pvt. Lewis F. Sawyer Jr., 17, whose parents live in New Brockton, is receiving the final phase of six months active military training under the Reserve Forces Act program at Fort Bliss, Tex. The training is scheduled to be concluded August 13.

During this final phase, Sawyer is being trained in the duties of an automatic weapons crewman.

He attended New Brockton high school.

Now Is Time To Cut Weed Growths

Are you going to lose weed seed this fall? Many can be destroyed in August before the seed matures and falls to the ground.

The smart farmer or gardener will cut the weeds, pile them, and burn them to kill as many of the seeds as possible. Or he will move the plants growing area away from the present location. Still another way he gets rid of weeds is by using one of the many types of weed killers.

Accidents Hit One Farm Family in 4

Safety, like liberty, requires constant watchfulness.

About three out of four farm families in the U. S. enjoy an accident-free year. But that one family in four suffers deaths and serious injuries from farm, home, and highway accidents.

W. E. WILKS

W. E. Wilks, of New Brockton, died Wednesday, July 27, in Guntersville. He is survived by the widow; one daughter, Mrs. Burney Reece of Enterprise; two brothers, B. J. Wilks of Enterprise and J. R. Wilks of New Brockton; five sisters, Mrs. J. D. Willis and Mrs. J. D. Rodgers, both of New Brockton; Mrs. Collie Martin of Dethman, Mrs. Claude Johnston and Mrs. Willie Johnston of Tennille.

Funeral services were held from the New Brockton First Baptist Church with the Rev. C. M. Mezek and Dr. B. R. Justice officiating.

Twenty years from now, there will be an estimated 25 million new households in America.

Blinded Alabama Veteran Is Honored As Man of Year

Montgomery — Blinded in action on Okinawa, Ralph Bishop of Talladega has been named Alabama man of the year, was honored recently in Talladega by the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped at a joint meeting of the Talladega and Sylacauga Civitan Clubs.

More than a hundred Bishop's fellow Civitans and wives joined the Governor's Committee and others for Milton K. Cummings, chairman of the Committee, to present Bishop with a citation from the President's Committee as well as one from the Governor's Committee. Cummings also presented the honored handicapped veteran with a check for $500, from the Brown Engineering Company of Huntsville in cooperation with the VFW of Alabama.

Chairman of the Governor's Committee Cummings, also a handicapped person, in his presenting the honors said that he, Bishop, and others should not be looked upon as being handicapped, but rather as being "inconvenienced." He praised the Bishop as being a courageous example of an American willing to sacrifice for his country, and then having the courage to overcome the inconvenience he had received.

The Civitan club of Talladega also presented Bishop with an engraved plaque in recognition of his being the honored Handicapped Alabama man of the Year.

New Industry In Alabama Already Is Ahead of 1959

At the end of the first seven months of the calendar year 1960, new industrial investment in Alabama has already passed the total figure reported for all of 1959. Leiland Jones, director of the State Planning and Industrial Development Board, told the Board at its quarterly meeting held in Mobile.

Figures on capital spending by industry in Alabama to date show a total new capital investment in plants and equipment of $104,714,000 during the January 1 to July 22 period, Jones stated. This compares with a total of $101,000,000 for the entire year of 1959. With more than five months to go in 1960, Jones added that Alabama may double the figure for the previous year by Dec. 31.

Jones noted that the distribution of new plants and expansions reported indicates increasing emphasis on small communities as sites for industrial operations. "This is especially gratifying," he said, "in that these industrial plants in smaller towns and cities will provide industrial employment where it is most needed in the state."

PRATSE PATTERSON

The Assn. of County Commissioners of Alabama has gone on record to commend Gov. John Patterson for his support of state programs benefiting county government. Meeting in Montgomery, the county officials particularly praised the operation of the state's road-building program in the counties.

The sale of food by wholesalers, retail stores, and restaurants now adds up to $70 billion each year, making it the biggest industry in the U. S. today.

A third of the fires started on farms are caused by defects in heating and cooking equipment.

Farmers use 10 percent of the nation's chemicals.

Gerald Tucker Gets Rank As Commander Of American Legion

Gerald Tucker became Commander of Culver Post No. 41, American Legion, at an installation ceremony of new officers Thursday, last week, at the Legion Hut, with Major Dozer Bryan, Past Commander, in charge.

Other Legion officers installed were: Charles Martin, first vice commander; J. C. Lewis, second vice commander; Haywood L. Grimes, adjutant; Maxwell Reeves, treasurer; James Boswell, service officer; Wayland Bryan, chaplain; Grady Thomas, historian; Esker Hudson, first sergeant-at-arms; Eddow Bryan, second sergeant-at-arms; H. A. R. D. Johnson, bugler.

Following installation Major Bryan called attention to the accomplishments of the Post during the past year with James Boswell as Commander.

Accomplishments mentioned were: Participation in Boys State, representation of Culver Post at the State Convention, all indebtedness on property paid, participation in community activities and service. U. S. flag presented to Brownies, aid to needy families of veterans, assistance in purchase of uniforms for Elba High school band.

The Auxiliary had a separate business meeting with Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, president, presiding. Mrs. Johnson appointed committees for the new year and made plans for committee activities.

Legion and Auxiliary joined in a fried chicken supper.

ASC Committee Vote Boundaries Set

The Coffee county ASC Committee has determined that the community boundaries for the purpose of electing the community committee members to serve next year, will be the same boundaries as during the past several years.
